Welcome to Walla Walla Valley

Walla Walla welcomes you to our stunning region. For decades Walla Walla has remained a best-kept secret. For those of us lucky enough to discover the Valley, it has long been our favorite secret getaway. With an average of 300 days of sunshine it offers a respite from the rain-soaked Pacific Northwest. The laid-back, traffic-free pace of life feels like pure decadence. And, of course, there is the award-winning wine and culinary scene.

Even now that we are “on the map,” we are still an approachable, family-friendly destination. We have hit the international stage, as Travel & Leisure named Walla Walla one of The 50 Best Places to Travel in 2018—fifth on the list, between Los Cabos and Uzbekistan!—but we still take the time to enjoy life.

So when you come to Walla Walla, you get to experience our Valley like a local. That is the real secret to enjoying the region. Be the first to smile and say hello to strangers walking our historic, award-winning Main Street. Take the time to explore the rich history as the birthplace of the Pacific Northwest. Visit Fort Walla Museum to learn about the pioneer experience. Explore the airport district, where family-owned wineries, distilleries, breweries, and our local favorite—Walla Walla Roastery—occupy military buildings which were key to the war efforts during World War II.

Sit back and enjoy one of the many music venues and performing arts offerings in town. Take in a symphony concert in Cordiner Hall, a live performance at the Power House Theatre (a converted 1895 power station), or come in June during the month-long Chamber Music Festival.

If you are an outdoor enthusiast, you will want to explore our parks, our miles of biking and hiking trails, and our nearby winter parks and ski slopes during the winter season.

But most of all, we encourage you to relax, engage, and connect. Strike up a conversation with a local. Chances are you’ll be talking to someone whose family first arrived in the valley 130 years ago. Or you could be speaking to an acclaimed chef or winemaker, or an internationally recognized artist. Or just one of the many of us who love this place and love to share it.

Go on! It’s not for nothing that Walla Walla was named by USA Today as the Friendliest Small Town in America. You will go home richly rewarded for your visit, and we’re certain you will want to come back again and again.

Visit us at www.wallawalla.org for a complete, up-to-the-minute listing of events, activities and amenities. Be sure to stop by our Visitor Booth on Main Street, right in the heart of downtown!

Vibrant Downtown Walla Walla thrives on a harmonious combination of old and new. A peaceful walk through the tree-lined downtown area reveals a functional mix of clothing stores, galleries, tasting rooms, cafes, book stores, restaurants and more. There's an economic balance between agriculture, in the present as well as the past and newer ventures such as technology. Main Street is populated with businesses open for decades, as well as those that just opened in the past year or two. Add numerous pieces of public art on street corners to the variety of prospering businesses in renovated historic buildings and the result is a world-class destination.

This modern experience is set in a historical environment reaching back to the mid-1800s, Walla Walla's Main Street has captured a bit of Americana the community shares with pride. It has also attracted plenty of attention from across the country. The Downtown restoration and preservation effort has been honored with a number of national awards, for food, wine and historic preservation.

Among others, special awards have included selection by the National Main Street Center as a Great American Main Street and being named one of 12 Distinctive Destinations by the National Trust For Historic Preservation. The area was recently named one of the best places to retire by Where to Retire Magazine. Several years before that, Sunset Magazine named Walla Walla's as the Best Main Street in The West and its Wine Destination of the Year. Top Value Reviews recently named Walla Walla as number 17 on its list of the top 50 Best Small Town Main Streets. The city has also been honored several times as a "Tree City U.S.A."

So relax and stroll through the area; stop at some of the shops, restaurants and sidewalk cafes. There's historic architecture in every direction, many possible routes to walk and a host of seasonal activities to enjoy.

Walk Walla Walla

Downtown Walla Walla has a full schedule of events, including outdoor musical entertainment, plenty of public art and art activities as well as numerous festivals that provide opportunities for fun.

Walla Walla Heritage maps are available for a walk through select areas of interest. Tour maps include the Downtown Historic Trail Guide, Fort Walla Walla, Boyer and Pioneer Park, historic homes and other sites in the area. They're available at the Visit Walla Walla Visitor Center located at 26 E. Main St. wallawalla.org or by calling 1-509-525-8755.

ArtWalla is an organization dedicated to making the arts available to everyone. As part of this, the organization has been

Soldiers, Pioneers & Indian People

Carrying the Past into the Future at Fort Walla Walla Museum

by James Payne, Executive Director

Long known as “The Cradle of Northwest History,” the Walla Walla region maintains a relationship to the past that helps provide its distinctiveness for today’s visitors. At Fort Walla Walla Museum, the mission of discovering, preserving and sharing that heritage is an ongoing task. Through a 17-building pioneer settlement, four large exhibit halls, several special events, lecture series, classes and more than 40 living history performances each year, the Museum annually beckons travelers from all 50 states and more than 35 foreign countries. The Museum also features an engaging Entry Hall loaded with exhibits. Among them, a diorama of Lewis & Clark in Wallah Wallah Country, military displays, Plateau Indian beadwork, heritage dresses, children’s hands-on stations, plus restrooms and a well-stocked Museum Store. Young children also enjoy the wooden play fort on the enclosed grounds.

In 1805/6 the journals of the Lewis & Clark Expedition documented the interaction with the Cayuse, Palouse, Walla Walla and Wanapum peoples. That first contact set the stage for the ongoing relationship between the United States and the Indian people who continue to thrive in their homeland. The Museum portrays this enduring story in a major, dynamic exhibit entitled Through War and Peace: American Military and the People of the Homeland tribes.

Following the early explorers, came the people of the fur trade era. Employees of the Northwest Company followed by the Hudson’s Bay Company interacted with members from the Homeland Tribes. While it had to be rebuilt twice, the trader’s Fort Walla Walla along the Columbia River existed nearly four decades.

Marcus and Narcissa Whitman arrived in 1836 and began their missionary work among local Indian people. Many members of the nearby Cayuse Tribe died when a measles epidemic reached Whitman Mission via the ever-growing numbers of pioneers along the Oregon Trail. This event added to existing friction and led to the killing of the Whitmans and 11 other pioneers by several Cayuse people in 1847. Occasional hostilities continued for nearly a decade until the signing of the treaty in 1855 near what would become the center of Walla Walla. After two temporary forts, a permanent U.S. military Fort Walla Walla was opened in 1858. While soldiers from the fort were involved in the final battles of the regional Indian Wars, the fort's presence provided peace for more than 99% of its duration.

With peace, the number of newcomers into the area bloomed. Farming pioneers were followed by miners passing through the region on their way to the Idaho goldfields in the 1860s. A community quickly grew around the fort and agriculture became the economic base. Fires and floods sometimes devastated the community, but the resilience of the people served to rebuild the town better than before.

After the turn of the century, a military presence was no longer needed. Except for a brief period during World War I, the post was closed in 1910. A group of local men served in the 146th Field Artillery, one of the most active batteries during WWI. Two of the large 155mm cannons used by this unit are on display. By 1922, the buildings of the fort were turned over to the Veterans Bureau, the forerunner of the modern Veterans Administration. During WWII Walla Walla was the home of an army hospital, air base and POW camp for German soldiers. All this rich history sits amid the vineyards, orchards, and fields of Walla Walla, the playground of the entire region.

We must embrace our past. Heritage is the thread that binds the fabric of our families, communities and nation. It defines who we are and serves as the foundation for our current economy. Enjoy Walla Walla's historic downtown, beautiful old homes and heritage sites. Bring your children and grandchildren to see Fort Walla Walla Museum's outstanding collections and exhibits to experience the story of the area's people from the days of Lewis & Clark through WWII.

The Walla Walla Valley embraces music and art. Whether the music is rock or chamber music, the area has much to offer. Art is easy to find, from college campuses to Main Street. Sit back, relax and enjoy concerts, live theater and take a stroll to check out the sculpture and gallery exhibits.

Music in the air, everywhere

The Walla Walla Symphony continues its second century of performances with its 2018 season. The community based orchestra has played each year since it began in 1907, making it the oldest continuous American symphony west of the Mississippi River. The symphony performance April 10, "Spanning the Centuries," includes Mozart, Tchaikovsky and Ives. A complete season schedule is available at wwsymphony.org.

Each year the symphony performs a family oriented concert, with education and fun for the whole family, as well as great music kids of all ages can enjoy. A fund raising gala is also in the lineup as well as a host of concerts.

Music is suited for outdoor performances. During the summer, downtown you can attend weekend concerts on Main Street. Musical entertainment is often provided during the Farmers' Markets.

Walla Walla Chamber Music Festivals

Music fills the streets, coffee shops, tasting rooms, libraries and parks of the area, all throughout the summer festival. A host of acclaimed, award-winning musicians transform summer into an ongoing musical experience. On wwcmf.org, a past festival was described as, "Familiar spaces, the corner coffee shop or bistro, take on new identities when filled with glorious chamber music." It's also an educational opportunity, you can watch rehearsals and gain a whole new perspective on the performance.

The Winter Chamber Music Festival each year fills January with music. Often unlikely musical pairings are put together, such as saxophones or drums with strings for an innovative twist on chamber music.

The 2018 summer festival is scheduled for June 7-30 with music in a variety of venues. For more information visit wwcmf.org.

Performances by the Walla Walla Choral Society and Walla Walla Valley Bands as well as concerts by students and faculty at the local colleges provide high quality musical entertainment all through the year. More information can be found at wwchoralso-ciety.org and wwvalleybands.org.

A variety of musical performances can be found at numerous tasting rooms and restaurants in the area. Other venues in town are Main Street Studios, 207 W. Main St. in the historic Dacres Hotel Building and the Gesa Power House Theatre in a renovated power plant off Rose St. at 6th. This summer, the Gesa Power House Theatre will host two musicals, "Annie" July 27-Aug. 5 and "9 to 5" Aug. 17-26.

Rock On, Walla Walla

The area embraces all types of music from chamber music to rock. In August 2015, Walla Walla held a giant series of outdoor concerts: the Gentlemen of the Road Stop-over Music Festival, headlined by Mumford & Sons and Foo Fighters. Multiple stages showcased the talents of local and regional bands throughout the festival.

Theater is alive and well in Walla Walla

Musicals, comedies and drama can be found on stage in several locations. Whitman College's Harper Joy Theater, Walla Walla University, Walla Walla Community College, Gesa PowerHouse Theatre and the Little Theatre of Walla Walla all provide top notch performances throughout the season. More information can be found at whitman.edu, wallawallauniversity.edu, wwcc.edu, phtww.com and wwlt.org.

Film

If you're in the mood for the movies, you have plenty of options. The Grand Cinemas of Walla Walla, 1325 W. Poplar St. offers showings weekdays and weekends. Information: wallawalla.halletcinemas.com. Dayton's Liberty Theater, libertytheater.org, offers

Art on the Corner and Elsewhere

Art has a prominent place in the Walla Walla Valley. Downtown Walla Walla's Main Street has numerous pieces of public art, including the very popular "Thoughts Discovered" by Brad Rude at First Ave. A walk along historic Main Street will take you past an assortment of thought provoking installations. Some of these pieces include Squire Broel's "Lights of the Valley," a cast bronze lantern with lights inside at Second Ave.

At Third Ave. in the Baker Boyer Bank plaza, a bronze frog contemplates the fountain. "The Thinker" by Ralph Tretheway strikes the same pose as Rodin's famous sculpture.

In front of the Walla Walla Public Library, on Alder St., is "Matilde on Her Way to the Market," by Nano Lopez, a long-horned cow made up of many textures.

The Whitman College campus also has a number of outdoor art installations. These include colorful totems and a serene basalt archway leading into the meditation grove in the Whitman Glen and more.

In Heritage Park on Main Street you can view "Windows on the Past," a recent project honoring the many ethnic and cultural groups in the area in the time span of 1850-1950. This mural of historic and modern photos on porcelain enamel on steel panels was placed on the 1902 Odd Fellows Temple facade. Visit artwalla.com for more information.

The recently installed "Illuminated Gateway Arbors" by Koryn Rolstad, resides in two locations at the Walla Walla Regional Airport. One is near the tarmac and the other is near the airport entrance.

And in galleries

Galleries with fine art on display are everywhere, from downtown Walla Walla to Milton-Freewater, College Place to Dayton. In addition to plenty of outdoor art you can visit more than two dozen galleries throughout Walla Walla and the outlying areas. To the north, Dayton has several including Steve Henderson Fine Art and the Wenaha Gallery. College Place has the Clyde and Mary Harris Gallery at Walla Walla University. Milton-Freewater has several including Arts Portal Gallery.

Museums in southeastern Washington and northeastern Oregon offer a glimpse of the people and customs of the past. The Tamástslikt Cultural Institute in Pendleton honors 10,000 years of the vibrant history of the original inhabitants of the region. It includes a fascinating past, a rich present and bright future.

Several museums in the local area are restored homes that tell how their families lived in days gone by. Many of the museums host special events, workshops, craft demonstrations and seasonal activities the whole family can enjoy. Fort Walla Walla Museum hosts a troupe of Living History actors who portray influential people from the area's past.

Fort Walla Walla Museum

755 Myra Rd., Walla Walla

Located on the grounds of a 19th century military fort, the Fort Walla Walla Museum provides an educational experience for the whole family. The Museum features a pioneer settlement of historic buildings, a military cemetery, beautiful gardens and four exhibit halls housing thousands of artifacts.

The Entrance Building and Galleries feature dynamic exhibits, artifacts and an admission free Museum Store filled with books, heritage gifts, traditional crafts, old-fashioned toys and gourmet foods.

New and upgraded exhibits are shared throughout the year. Open year-round, the Museum hosts a series of activities and events. Museum After Hours is a monthly presentation series touching on topics ranging from regional culture and history to the roles and responsibilities of museums within our communities. The Museum also offers classes for all ages and camps for children during the summer. Special events include Fort Walla Walla Days June 9-10 and Ice Cream Social Aug. 19. Whitman Mission National Historic Site, a unit of the National Park Service, focuses on historical and contemporary relationships between peoples of American and Native American cultural backgrounds. The arrival of American missionaries into the Cayuse Homeland in the 1830s is one example. For information on times and programs: visit the park's website, www.nps.gov/whmi; call 509-522-6360; or check out Facebook.

Kirkman House Museum

214 North Colville St., Walla Walla

Visit one of Walla Walla's oldest mansions turned museum and learn how a young textile salesman from England made his fortune in America's Wild West. William and Isabelle Kirkman became pillars of the community and completed this grand home in 1880. Today it is a place to tell their story and that of early Walla Walla through per-

Tamástslikt Cultural Institute

Wildhorse Resort - Pendleton, I 84 & Mission Highway

Tamástslikt Cultural Institute tells the story of three Tribes, the Cayuse, Umatilla and Walla Walla, who for 10,000 years have inhabited the Northwest's Plateau region. Permanent exhibits, a timeline of events and experiences, rather than artifacts, explain the past, present and dreams of the future. Special exhibits are also scheduled throughout the year.

The outdoor Living History Village, open from Memorial Day through Labor Day, showcases traditional lodging dating back thousands of years while Tribal members demonstrate crafts, artwork and food preparation. The Museum store sells Tribal arts and crafts, books, music and uniquely designed Pendleton Woolen Mills Indian blankets. The Kinship Cafe serves local foods.

Hours: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, year around. Admission for viewing the exhibits. Family--up to 4 people, $25; Adults $10; Seniors, 55+ $9; Youth, 6-17 & Students $6; age 5 and under free. The first Friday of every month is free. Call 541-429-7700 or visit tamastlikt.org.

Frenchtown Historic Site

8364 Old Highway 12

Eight miles west of Walla Walla; Three miles east of Lowden

With walking trails and information, the site preserves the memory of several parts of local history including the former settlement of Frenchtown, the mission and cemetery of St. Rose of Lima and the Battle of Walla Walla, also known as the Battle of Frenchtown.

Frenchtown began as a settlement of French Canadian trappers employed by Hudson's Bay Company and their families in about 1824. Many of those buried in the cemetery are those families.

Prior to the ratification of treaties creating reservations for the Indian Tribes, war broke out, the local battle was part of the larger Yakima Indian War which continued until the fall of 1858. However the 4-day battle at Frenchtown determined the control of Walla Walla and the surrounding lands. It was also the longest military battle in Washington state's history.

The St. Rose Mission Church was constructed on the lower portion of the Frenchtown Historic Site in 1876. It was actively used until about 1900 and removed from the site in 1911.

Open daily sunrise to sunset. No admission charge. Visit frenchtownwa.org or call 509-522-3763.

Walla Walla County's long agricultural history has continually grown and diversified to meet changing market demands. From the area's first crop, potatoes, planted at Fort Nez Perce in 1825, to orchards, blueberries, strawberries and grapes, the area holds a bountiful harvest. While most acres are still devoted to wheat, the area has produced peas, lettuce, asparagus, spinach, onions and more. Agriculture remains vital to the Valley, as it was in the 1800s and with continuing innovations for a future that's just as bountiful.

The Downtown Farmers' Market, runs Saturdays, from 9 a.m.-1 p.m., sets up shop at Main and 4th from May through October. Area bands perform in concert while you shop. The Market brings a variety of produce fresh from the farms to shoppers. It's also an opportunity for an enjoyable outing and a great learning experience for the kids. A large assortment of vendors and artisans offer a variety of goods including produce, plants, art, jewelry, soaps and more. For more information call 509-529-8755, farmersmarket.downtownwallawalla.com, Facebook.com/farmersmarketdowntown.

College Place has a Farmers and Artisans Market, Thursdays, in the City Hall parking lot, May 31-Sept. 28. Milton-Freewater also holds a farmer's market, with plenty of vendors, produce, crafts, art and live music on Wednesdays from 4 -7 p.m. at Orchard Park. The season runs from the first Wednesday in June through the last Wednesday in September. For more information visit mffarmersmarket.org

Dayton also has a Farmers Market, now combined with Blue Mountain Station's Artisan Market Saturdays.

WALLA WALLA SWEETS

Washington State's Official Vegetable

Walla Walla Sweet Onions have been grown in the area for more than 110 years, the mild flavor of the onion made it a favorite, with increasing popularity and availability through the years.

Designated as the official vegetable of Washington State in 2007, the Walla Walla Sweet Onion season runs from about the third week of June through September. In the beginning of the sweet onion harvest, the area hosts the Sweet Onion Festival in Downtown Walla Walla along Main Street, in June. The festival is right beside the Downtown Walla Walla Farmers Market that weekend, amplifying the excitement.

Because they have a higher water content than most onions, Walla Walla Sweets have a delicate flavor but a shorter shelf life.

For more information and Walla Walla Sweet Onion recipes and tips, visit sweetonions.org.

Birding

More than 337 species of birds have been documented within Walla Walla County. The area's plentiful natural habitat nurtures this outstanding diversity of species. Significant habitat exists to the east in the Blue Mountains and to the north and west along the Columbia and Snake rivers. Migration periods are excellent times to view the many species of birds in this area. For information visit blumtn.org or call the Blue Mountain Audubon Society at 509-529-0080.

Walla Walla County's prime spots for birding include:

- Bennington Lake
- Rooks Park
- Fort Walla Walla Natural Area & Park
- Touchet-Gardena area
- Walla Walla River Delta
- Two Rivers Habitat Management Unit
- McNary National Wildlife Refuge
- Hood Park
- Fish Hook Park
- Coppei Creek drainage

Meet you at the ball park

There is nothing like a summer evening watching a baseball game. Our national pastime is part of a tradition of sports, summers, families and the best of each generation. The Walla Walla Sweets, part of the West Coast League, play home games at the historic Borleske Stadium.

The first home game of the 2018 season is June 8, the Sweets play at 7:05 p.m. To check on their complete season schedule visit wallawallasweets.com. More information is also available by calling 509-522-BALL. Let go of some stress and watch some baseball.

Skiing

Winter covers the Blue Mountains with snow, offering skiers a vast seasonal playground. The area has two ski resorts, Spout Springs and Ski Bluewood.

Although closed this season, Spout Springs, 22 miles east of Weston, at Tollgate Mountain in Northeastern Oregon has offered a variety of downhill options and cross-country trails. Visit spoutspringsskiarea.com.

Ski Bluewood, near Dayton, has a broad variety of terrain for both beginner and expert. Group programs are available for both skiers and snowboarders. For information call 509-382-4725 or visit bluewood.com.

Bicycling

Whether you are cycling for fitness or for the outdoor experience there's plenty of territory to cover. You can bike on your own or with a group. Special events like the Tour of Walla Walla in April showcase the popularity of cycling. If you want to tour the area at your own pace and get some exercise while sightseeing, bikes are available to rent from The Lost Boardroom, Allegro Cyclery and the Bicycle Barn. For helpful information about Walla Walla Valley bike rides, trail maps and special events visit:

Walla Walla County Fairgrounds

The Walla Walla County Fairgrounds hosts exciting activities year around. From thrilling horsemanship, barrel racing, historic and 4-H exhibits to musical entertainment, you can find all kinds of educational fun for the family. Other activities are held at the fairgrounds, including the Walla Walla Community College Rodeo in early March. Barrel racing events are held throughout the year.

The Walla Walla Fair & Frontier Days at the end of summer, is a more than 150-year-old tradition, full of family-friendly activities. The kids can enjoy the carnival rides, games and exhibits. Each year the fair gets started with a concert by a well known entertainer. Then world class rodeo performers bring excitement and inspiring horsemanship skills to amaze everyone. Plenty of vendor booths offer art, gift items and great food.

The renovated historic Pavilion still holds exhibits and events throughout the year.

A treasured landmark rising above downtown Walla Walla, the Marcus Whitman pairs its enviable historic pedigree with an unflinching commitment to modern-day luxury and exceptional service. Since opening in 1928, we've reigned as Walla Walla's premier hotel, a hospitality hub deeply connected to the community and committed to showcasing the region's wine country splendor.

The Valley is rich with things to do, rain or shine, in any season. Take a walk, a drive or bike ride and enjoy the beautiful area.

You have plenty of activities to choose to fill your time. Among other things, Walla Walla has acres of public parks, many with family-friendly state-of-the-art playgrounds.

- Fort Walla Walla Park has horseshoe pits, sand volleyball facilities, a model car track and model airplane field. There's also a bicycle motocross track, skateboard park, dog park, disc golf course and a paved bicycle trail.
- Howard Tietan Park has new play equipment, including a NEOS, for hours of entertainment. Kiwanis Park in College Place is a shade-filled place for picnics and family gatherings.
- There are small neighborhood parks, like Menlo park and larger ones like Pioneer Park. Each has its own character and activities available.
- Hiking trails near Mill Creek abound through Rooks Park and the Bennington Lake Recreation Area, east of Walla Walla. You might spot herons, kingfishers, other water fowl and maybe a deer.
- In the summer you can swim at the newly renovated Veterans Memorial Pool, 505 E. Rees Ave., Walla Walla. The aquatic center offers opportunities for swimmers of all ages and abilities. Visit: wallawalla.gov/park-srecreation for more information.
- Farmers Markets-May through October.
- College Place, Milton-Freewater, Dayton and Walla Walla have Farmers Markets.
- Walla Walla has it's own baseball team, the Walla Walla Sweets. They play home games at the historic Borleske Stadium.

- Don't miss a Walla Walla Sweets baseball game!

U-Pick:

- Blue Mountain Lavender Farm June-Mid-July
- Lampson Blueberries June-early August
- Morningstar Berry Farm raspberries mid-August-September
- Spring Creek Farm mid-July-September

The outlying communities have their own unique recreation areas.

- College Place has several parks with picnic areas and play equipment. Walla Walla University's Winter Education Complex on 4th St. houses the Tausick Memorial Pool. Check availability at wallawalla.edu.
- Milton-Freewater's family aquatic center includes a zero depth pool and water toys for all age groups. Milton-Freewater also boasts one of the last drive-in theaters in the country. Waitsburg, Prescott and Dayton also have swimming pools for summer fun.
- Dayton has the new Blue Mountain Station, the location of artisan food producers. Learn about local food production and take an educational tour.
- Waitsburg also is home to several lavender farms. Lavender's R Us and Sleepy Hollow Lavender Farm, accent the area's wheat acreage with a stunning burst of color.
- When your family needs indoor fun, visit the Children's Museum of Walla Walla. It promises entertaining and educational exhibits as well as activities for kids of all ages. Another option is the Walla Walla Public Library, offering story times and events to get the family excited about reading together.

Enjoy!

Camp and Cody Kinnaman have a great, cool time in the community pool in Helix, Oregon, population about 180, 30 miles from Walla Walla. Photo by Greg Lehman.

Summer usually means swimming and picnics in the parks. The area has several public pools open in the summertime and more than 600 acres of public parks, many with updated playgrounds.

In Walla Walla's Jefferson Park, Jefferson Pool gives kids an opportunity to splash away some energy while the family prepares a picnic lunch. For information call 509-527-4527.

In Milton-Freewater the Joe Humbert Family Aquatic Center provides open swim, lessons and rentals as well as a nearby picnic shelter and park. Call 541-938-9166.

Other outlying communities, Dayton, Waitsburg and Prescott also have swimming pools. For Dayton call 509-382-2361, Waitsburg, call 509-337-6371 and Prescott, call 509-849-2214.

Area libraries, Camp Fire and the YMCA offer all kinds of activities year around. The City of Walla Walla Parks and Recreation Department holds classes and activities for both adults and children on a continuing basis.

The area offers several skateboard tracks, the first at Fort Walla Walla Park and a Dreamland Skate Parks design in the city's Sports Complex off Tausick Way in Walla Walla's Eastgate. Milton-Freewater also has a Dreamland designed skateboard park. For BMX enthusiasts there's a pro-style BMX Track at Fort Walla Walla Park. For more information visit ci.walla-walla.wa.us, mfcity.com, skatewallawalla.org and wallawallavalleybmx.webs.com.

Hiking

The area has plenty of paths and trails for all levels of ability, whether you're going out for a stroll or a more strenuous hike. Bennington Lake, east of Walla Walla is a popular place to walk, fish, and enjoy the outdoors. If you're more adventurous, the Blue Mountains and Umatilla National Forest is close by. You can get more information at fs.usda.gov or call 541-278-3716 or 509-522-6290.

Trap Shooting

The Walla Walla Gun Club, 1212 Middle Waitsburg Road has plenty of events throughout the year to keep you on target. Visit wallawallagunclub.com or call 541-969-7913.

From the Root to the Fruit We're a Hoot!

MILTON-FREEWATER IS A FRUIT HAVEN – We are home to the region's newest grape-growing region called The Rocks District (established in 2015). We are also the jumping-off point for a back roads loop through new vineyards, heirloom orchards and historic homesteads. The new Whisky & Rocks Farm Loop self-guided tour ensures you encounter the latest crop of winemakers, distillers, brewers, farmers, cheesemakers and chocolatiers—and taste their homegrown offerings. When you meet us while roaming our back roads and byways, wave back. It's an old and enduring tradition around here.

GO Week

Wednesday-Friday, August 22-24

The community comes together to celebrate Milton-Freewater's new Gib Olinger Elementary School. Activities will include a family movie night, guided tours, the Library Book Sale, children's parade and more – all culminating with the ribbon-cutting ceremony on August 24th followed by a Salmon Dinner.

Christmas Magic Friday, November 30

The excitement of the Christmas season kicks off with our tree lighting and magical parade sponsored by Les Schwab.

Following the parade you may enjoy free cookies & hot chocolate, festive lights & music – and the children may visit with Santa & Mrs. Claus! mfchamber.com

WHISKY & ROCKS FARM LOOP ▶

Self-Guided Tour – In Eastern Oregon, we value the beautiful landscape and take pride in what we grow and make. Driving through the golden rolling landscape of Eastern Oregon's Umatilla County, it's easy to bypass the tasty handcrafted products rooted in these grain- and fruit-growing farmlands. But the new Whisky & Rocks Farm Loop self-guided tour ensures you encounter the latest crop of winemakers, distillers, brewers, farmers, cheesemakers and chocolatiers – and taste their homegrown offerings. Skirting the forested Blue Mountains, the 30-mile main route connects the communities of wine-rich Milton-Freewater and rodeo-famous Pendleton. It highlights independent producers who operate seasonally, and often by appointment, so call ahead for a full taste of rural life. The following pages highlight the Milton-Freewater attractions on the Farm Loop.
